Global Peace Services USA

is a movement to create professional peace services by promoting education and skills training based on a philosophy of active nonviolence.

We believe that:

- 🌐 active nonviolence is the foundation of peace service
- 🌐 nonviolent alternatives to war and violence draw inspiration and strength from spiritual sources
- 🌐 women and men who dedicate themselves to peace service need education and training as thorough as that required for other service professions
- 🌐 peace service professionals, full-time or part-time, will serve both at home and worldwide according to need and training
- 🌐 thousands of people must be willing to step forward in support of every individual who will be professionally trained for peace service

Global Peace Service members:

 are encouraged to work together on specific projects and areas of interest, such as:

- organizing local GPS meetings to promote and create life-enhancing alternatives to war, threats of war and conditions that lead to violent conflict
- developing, testing and promoting peace service curricula receive regular mailings, including a newsletter and news about special events are invited to attend an annual gathering of the GPS membership

Contributing to a Culture of Peace Through Cooperative Ventures

We are building an international network with others working for an idea whose time has come. We envision large numbers of well-trained women and men engaged in peace service at home and abroad supported by many more persons and groups.

Some examples of cooperative ventures:

-  an interactive network with peace service programs in other countries
-  inter-religious dialogue about peace services
-  dialogue with U.S. military personnel
-  a Congressional initiative for a U.S. Department of Peace which will fund peace service education
